The Sound of Music

Mayo College Girls' School is proud to present 'The Sound of Music' - a dynamic and exhilarating tale of a gamine postulant, Maria, who gives seven precocious children and their uptight widowed father, Captain Von Trapp, the gift of music, affection and togetherness. Maria's passion for music, which initially appears as a hindrance to her aspiration to become a nun, proves to be a catalyst in her journey of exploring maternal efficiency; imparting the imperative message of how parents' love, care and time for their children is nectar for their evolution. Maria's vocation inside the parish helps her claim her true joyful place in the lives of Von Trapp family.

CHARACTER INTRODUCTION

Maria Rainer

Maria a dynamic, vivacious personality, who has already 'pledged her life to God' and candidly confesses that she "can't seem to stop singing wherever" she is and firmly believes in the power of music that transcends boundaries to touche the human spirit. As she embarks on her journey of being a governess, she is hopeful of delivering her best. As her charm begins to work magic on the children, she soon finds herself confronting an inner conflict between her training as a nun and her vulnerability as a young passionate girl resisting love. From being a supposedly 'problem child' at the abbey, she emerges as a force for good.

Captain Von Trapp

Captain Georg Von Trapp, a high-ranking naval officer and a widower characterized by emotional shutdown is faced with the challenge of bringing up his seven children. It is this crisis in his life that makes him encounter Maria, who supports him to discover his role as a father. He gradually transforms from communicating with his children through whistles to enjoying a heart-to-heart tête-à-tête with them and those very conversations gradually become the light house for the grieving children. The siblings of different age groups sail through the tempestuous ocean of adolescence and discuss the futility of war with him. It is heartwarming to see his transition from being an austere and iron-fisted father to a companion to them, all this change attributed to his familial emotions being unlocked by Maria. In the end, he holds Maria's hand to complete his family.

Mother Abbess
